

A Wetland Centre for NEW ZEALAND

THE PLACE

Photo: K.Denyer

Photo: K. Rabarts

The National Wetland Trust plans to build a national wetland centre in the Waikato

The proposal is to use recreation reserve land adjacent to the Lake Serpentine (Rotopiko) lakes near Ohaupo.

It's a beautiful site with great potential:

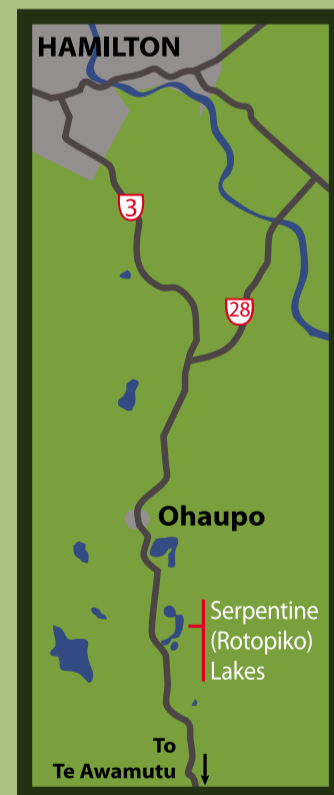

- Healthy peat lakes with an intact native plant community.
- An area of re-created peat bog.
- A large stand of mature kahikatea.
- Extensively replanted areas.
- Great views.

Photo: K.Denyer

Photo: J.Greenwood

www.wetlandtrust.org.nz

It is easy to get to and close to several other significant visitor attractions including Maungatautari Ecological Island.

experience

excite educate